

CURTIS BENCH

Enjoy the Trails of Goblin Valley

LOCATION

This trail begins at the "T" in the road just .5 miles south of the main entrance of Goblin Valley.

TRAIL TYPE

This trail is hiking only.

DISTANCE

This trail is about 2.1 miles, (3.4 km). The elevation at the trailhead is 4949 ft. with an elevation gain of 96 ft.

DIFFICULTY

This trail is easy and great for everyone, including small children.

TRAIL DESCRIPTION

The surface of this trail is compact sand and desert grasses. This trail is maintained by the park so be respectful of thier work.

EQUIPMENT

No extra equipment is required for this hike.

ENVIRONMENT

This trail is great year round while the park is open.

SAFETY

This trail is safe, especially where it is in the park boundaries. Be respectful of others on the trail as it can be busy at times.

TAKE IN THE VIEWS.

The trail is unique with a beautiful array of desert vegetation and white and red sandstone. The trail at one point opens up to a beautiful view of the majestic Henry Mountains.

GET A CLOSER LOOK.

To access this trail you will park your car at the "T" and walk up a short hill and then follow the sign (left / south) for the Curtis Bench trail. On this trail you will get a close look of the unique landscape that makes Goblin Valley so incredible.

DO IT AT YOUR OWN PACE.

Take sometime to explore the area. Goblin Valley is full of an incredible landscape with little goblin like rocks that have been formed over millions of years.

Trail tip: This is great for a a short stroll or a fun family activity. Bring plenty of water, as this is a very dry area.

If you have any further questions, please contact us at:

1-435-425-3365
info@capitolreef.travel

www.capitolreef.org

